The New York Herald is very severe on Blaine. It asks, what solid service has he rendered? During the long period he kas been in public life, what important measure has he ever originated? His record is a perfect blank, except gladiatorial displays in debate. There is no law in the statute-book of which he can claim to be the author; there is no important measure which was decided by his influence; there is nothing in our legislation or history to which his friends can point that would be different if this showy political gladiator had never existed.

> THE PLATFORM. The following platform of principles will be adopted by the Republican convention to-

Resolved, That we hereby reaffirm our devotion to the National Republican party, and to its principles as keretorore declared, believing these principles to be founded in political windom, and essential to the prosperity and equality of every citizen, and to the Union of the States under the constitution.

Resolved, That the bonds of Tennessee, heretofore recognized by both the Democratic and Republican parties as legally issued and valid, is an indebtedness binding in law and in morals upon the property and conscience of the State and upon the property and conscience of all her citizens, and that any attempt to impair the obligations of that indebtedness, or to readjust it or scale it, or is any other manner to change the letter and spirit of the contract without the voluntary consent of the bondholders previously, fairly and understandingly obtained, is downstant repudiation and an act of high-handed dis-right repudiation and an act of high-handed dishonesty.

Rescheel, That any salutary proposit on from our creditors to take less than the face value of their bonds, by the meads in view of our losses consequent upon the war of the rebellion, should be tounkrully and unhestatingly accepted and the new contract faithfully and promptly compiled with, and we decounce the refusal of the Democratic party to accept the sixty and six proposition a refusal of a liberal and voluntary deduction, and we recognize in said refusal overwhelming evidence that a large majority of the Democratic party latends to repudiate the bounded debt of the State, and thereby to saffect our State to the opprobrium of all people who regard the contracts of a State with her creditors as of sacred involability.

Resolved, Foat the reason prompting the Democratic party of Tennessee and other States of the south to repudiate the debts of their respective States will, when logically applied, prompt them a so to repudiate the entire war cost of the United States; and we hereby declare our solemn judgment to be that, as soon as the repudiating element of the Democratic party has wiped out the debts of their respective States, they will declare in favor of repudiating the debt incurred by the nation to preserving the United.

LONDON, May 5.-The Standard, in a editorial article commenting on the descit in the Afghanistan finances, says: "There seems to be, unfortunately, no room for doubt that the recent glowing financial calculations of the Indian government proved—to use a gentle expression—untrustworthy. The Indian budget was laid before the legislative council at Calcutta, February 24th, and showed in gross and in detail an improvement which Sir Stafford Northcote, chancellor of the exchaquer, had led parliament to ex-pect. Sir John Strachey unfoldeds series of surpluses which changed the aspect of the former estimates, and seemingly made it clear that the sums at the disposal of the government of India, after meeting all usual demands of expenditures, would be sufficient to clear off the whole cost of the Afghau war. 'he figures of Sir John Strachey's budget were discussed during the elections with much interest, and were generally accepted as proof that the condition of our fellow subjects in India was by no means as bad as it had been painted. It is with more than ordinary pleasure that we announce the above marriage notice of one of our most influential business men to a charming and gitted daughter of one of our closet families. The bridegroom possesses those traits of success, energy, perseverance and intellectual shillir, and the bride the happy blending of personal beauty, a cultivated mind and domestic habits. Thus we predict for them a future of happiness and prosperity, and our wish is that their future course through life may pass sway as gently and joyously as the onward flow of the majestic river which glides by the door of their future home.
